Home > Update: Orange Line Trolley Service Now at Full Service After Midnight Power Disruption

Wednesday, September 23, 2015

San Diego – The Metropolitan Transit System (MTS) announced that service on the Orange Line is back up to full strength after an SDG&E power wire fell on the Trolley’s catenary wire between the 32nd & Commercial and 25th & Commercial Stations around midnight last night.

The bus bridge MTS put into effect to transport passengers between the 12th & Imperial Transit Center and the Euclid Avenue Trolley Station has been discontinued.

Follow the MTS Twitter handle for any additional updates @sdmts.

MTS operates 95 bus routes and three Trolley lines on 53 miles of double-tracked railway. Every weekday more than 300,000 passenger trips are taken on MTS bus and Trolley services. MTS is expecting to set a new record this year with more than 97 million riders. For more information on how you can use public transportation and save money, go to www.sdmts.com.
